

ABSTRACT

Methods and materials for enhancing T cell diversity are described. For example, methods that include administering purified populations of B cells or immunoglobulins to subjects in need thereof are provided.